What is TNR?

TNR (trap-neuter-return) is a humane approach to managing the community cat population. It involves trapping, spaying/neutering, and then returning the cat to their outdoor home.

Why do we TNR?

There are many benefits to TNR including:

- Reduce the overall cat population
- Prevent new kittens from being born and dying on the streets
- Reduce feral cat nuisance like fighting/mating noises and male cat's spraying odors
- Rodent control

Who are We?

Our Mission

TippedEars is a 501(c)(3) charitable organization whose purpose is to combat cat overpopulation through humane TNR (Trap-Neuter-Return). By reducing the overall cat population, fewer cats will need to be euthanized in shelters for space, and there will not be as many kittens dying on the streets. There are not enough adoptive homes to support the growing cat population. In order to solve this problem, TippedEars believes it is essential to fight the root of the problem - prevent the excess of kittens born each year. Humane TNR is the most effective solution to solving cat overpopulation in our society and improving each cat's quality of life. While in our care, community cats will be fixed, flea treated, vaccinated, and microchipped.

How Do We TNR?

- Prepare - No feeding 24 hours before trapping (this includes dry food!)
- Trap - hungry cats will go into the traps
- Spay/Neuter - trapped cats will be transported to a spay/neuter clinic to be sterilized, microchipped, vaccinated, and ear tipped (the ear tip does not hurt the cat, it tells trappers that cat is fixed!)
- Release - the cats will be released in the same location that they were trapped
